THE GLASS SUPPER 2013

Wednesday 20th November at The London Hilton Canary Wharf

As if by Magic

Have you ever pondered upon the fact that whenever you've wanted something really badly in your life, when you've had that incandescent flame ablaze inside you for something - quite often you eventually get it. Then when you've got it, have you ever said to yourself, "OMG I don't know how I did that but I've done it?"

According to Napoleon Hill*, the dominating thoughts in our minds will eventually reproduce themselves in outward, physical action and gradually transform themselves into physical reality. So by focusing our minds firmly and positively on whatever it is we want, according to the inexorable law of nature, we will eventually get it, as if by magic. We make things happen by means of powerful, acutely focused independent thought. By the same token, when a group of individuals come together sharing the same powerful thoughts, like one of Henry VIII's protected viewing galleries; we get an unrestricted view and can see the way ahead clearly for miles and miles.

The Glass Supper is like a protected viewing gallery, an open platform allowing direct access to the future of architectural glass technologies, systems and solutions. As if by magic it brings together on the one hand architects of distinction, and on the other, ultimate decision makers from inside the glass industry. There's nothing like this, nothing so powerful, nothing so good.....nothing is merely potential. The central facet for this year's event is "High Performance facades, what does this mean?" There is no impediment to intelligible communication. The Presenters, "accelerators of change" from these two uncompromising yet inextricably linked sectors, whilst breaking bread together, will provide anecdotal evidence, (with reciprocal willingness in particular on the part of the architect, to receive and apply these new intelligent glass solutions) in a clear, unrestricted open-air energized debate. Insight which each one of us will learn something from, by transmogrification - as if by magic.

We hope you feel enlightened sufficiently enough to join in and voice your opinions in these discussions while we sit amongst friends and enjoy The Glass Supper!

Extract taken from the magnificent book Think and Grow Rich by Napoleon Hill, first published in 1937.*

The 3rd "Glass Supper" is presented by Intelligent Glass Solutions and will be held on Wednesday 20th November at The London Hilton Canary Wharf
